Frosty has been removed from the game as of 3/31/2019. This page has been preserved for historical purposes. This means that it has been considered to have the most completely accurate information. If you can find a way to edit without deleting or adding false information, please feel free to do so. Wave Wave 10 (Winter Event) Frosty is the final boss in the 2019 Winter Event. It has 350,000 Health but has an extremely slow speed. It wields a giant axe and is very armored. Frosty is very problematic due to his offensive abilities, high health, and the Titans that guard Frosty. Appearance Phase 1 Frosty is an ice knight that wields a massive axe and has a very large appearance and is bigger than the player. Frosty emits a blue glow and can be observed that it has several ice spikes protruding out of their body and has shining white eyes that are slanted. It adorns a helmet along with having a full set of armor on its torso and legs. Like Void, it has a crystal in its torso, looking like icicles. Phase II Frosty's head is revealed and now has white flames that rage from his head. Much can be noted about its facial features such as having the same spikes protruding out of its head, having large horns on the top and bottom of its face, and the entirety of its eyes. Offensive Abilities
Axe Slam Frosty has the ability to slam its axe into the ground that cause ice spikes to erupt out of the ground and freeze all towers that are affected by the ice spikes. Snowstorm Frosty will cause a snowstorm to occur that freezes all towers within the map. He will heal HP upon doing this. Frosty can only use this ability when in phase two. Tactics Using Phaser is highly recommended to counter to its boss due to it's extremely high DPS. However, do not place too many Phasers in the same area or Frosty will use its axe to stun those towers. Frosty is guarded by 3 Titans. It is best to take them out quickly with Phasers and Railgunners so your units can focus on attacking Frosty. Use Flamethrowers or Hollowboomers to slow down Frosty by 40%. Sleeters are not able to affect Frosty. Trivia
As of 2/9/19, Frosty is the 2nd biggest zombie in all of Tower Battles, the first being Grim. Frosty was originally called Ice Titan during the announcement of Winter 2019. Frosty is the 4th enemy with the highest Health of the game. The 1st being Grim and the 2nd/3rd being Void and Revenant. This is the first ever boss to have 2 phases. As soon as Frosty takes out his axe, "Rainbow Factory (Nightmare Fuel Remix)" plays. Sometimes, it can lag while taking off it's helmet, resulting in a stuck boss that can be killed easily. Like King Jack, Frosty will stand still if apocalypse rave is used on it. If Frosty is killed in this state, it won't have a death animation or sound. Frosty also won't go into Phase 2, or activate any abilities. Frosty may sometimes bug out completely when using abilities, getting stuck on a certain point of the map. This is the first zombie that can heal by itself. Its head moves in his 2nd phase. Frosty has extreme similarities with the Titan. Frosty appears dead in the 2020 Xmas Menu to the right of the Military Base view. Update History

One to two hundred members should do it, however make sure these aren't bots, as that is a sign of an uncared for group! 2 Be as active as you can and try to come to group events when others are on. Participate in raids, trainings, and group events. Get yourself noticed, and interact and talk to higher ranks than you! Hopefully somebody will notice that you come on a lot and will point this out to the leader. Advertisement 3 Be an active poster on the group wall/forum. Use good grammar and spelling, and be mature and diplomatic. Don't spam things, however, make sure what you're saying isn't just random. Again, hopefully people will notice and realize how active you are. 4 Go to training sessions a lot. This increases your skill and may even help with promotion. Advertisement 1 Recruit people for the group. Ask your friends if they would consider joining the group. You could also go to games where the theme is similar to that of the group. For example: If you're in a war group you might want to visit "The Underground War" or "Armored Patrol". Also try being friendly and give promotion requests for people to like you, but don't do this often, then the HR's will suspect something. 1 In group events, show respect, responsibility, and listening skills. This demonstrates that you have strong potential in terms of becoming a High Rank. 2 Don't team kill. People will get angry with you and you might get exiled from the group. 3 Follow orders from higher ranks first time. This will show that you have good listening skills and can respect others, and you'll hopefully earn a good reputation. You definitely want to be known as a rule breaker, so be careful of what you do, as everything can be screenshotted and potentially ruin your chances! 4 Offer to do or make something for the group, such as a training base or a raiding center. This will boost your popularity, get your name known, and maybe you can get a rank as Developer. 5 You can put the group as your primary group and favorite all the group places along with sending friend requests to a lot of the members but this will not necessarily secure you a promotion, and it's not guaranteed people will notice this, especially in large groups that already have a lot of favourites. 6 If you get BC, TBC or OBC (Builders Club, Turbo Builders Club and Outrageous Builders Club), you can make your own group and do what you want with it. If leaders of other groups see you already have a good active group, they might promote you. Advertisement 1 Most war groups will have you contact a leader or High Rank for a test to become a High Rank in the group. They usually consist of the things you have learned in training, such as fighting and obstacles. Sometimes they include a record of your past experiences and how you tend to deal with challenges. There might be another test to see if you have proper spelling and grammar. Finally, they usually have you host a training to see how you can handle situations and go about helping people, and giving promotions. 2 If you get turned down the first time, train more and try again until you get accepted. Maybe aim for a lower target and move up the ranks, which is much more likely to happen, such as getting MR (Middle Rank) first, and then moving slowly up. 3 After becoming a High Rank, some people wonder how they can become an even higher rank. That can be another test, consisting of a more difficult obstacle and sword/gun fight. There is sometimes even an election for the highest ranks. This will be a test of how much the community likes you, and could possibly lead to you owning the group. Advertisement Add New Question Question How do I get a promotion from a group that is from a different genre? Do the same sort of stuff, as in play their group games, be very active, and if it like a designer group, wear their t-shirts and they will see you are respectful and active and promote you -- hopefully. Question I joined a group and got a message that says, "Pending." How do I make that go faster? You can't. Unfortunately, you'll have to just wait until the group's owner lets you in. Question What should I do if I get demoted? Unfortunately, all you can do is try to rank yourself back up by being very active. Eventually, you should be able to get back to where you were in the first place, before you got demoted.
